Carlton gives Adelaide the blues

Adelaide has suffered consecutive losses going down to Carlton by 48 points Sunday afternoon at Marvel Stadium. With Mathew Nicks unavailable due to COVID Health & Safety protocols the reigns were handed over to Assistant Coach Scott Burns who took charge for the clash.

by
Liam Sheedy

The Crows started brightly kicking the first two goals before Carlton took control of the contest.

Some first half umpiring decisions would have left Crows fans scratching their heads, but Carlton were by far the better side and went into the half-time break leading by 26 points.

The third term was simply uncompetitive for Adelaide as Carlton dominated piling on 6.6 to two behinds with the margin blowing out beyond 10 goals.

Like the previous week the Crows were able to win the final term, but the damage was already done. The statistics tell the tale with Carlton winning clearances, contested ball, and leading the inside 50 count 74-49. The midfield battle was a win for the Blues with Patrick Cripps clearly Best on Ground.

I have generally been complimentary of Reilly O'Brien but a solitary mark in two weeks and a misfiring midfield may see Kieran Strachan given an opportunity in ruck sooner rather than later.

Not surprisingly the lopsided inside 50 counts put the Adelaide defence under the pump with Charlie Curnow & Harry McKay combining for nine goals.

Taylor Walker and Shane McAdam kicked two goals each for Adelaide, the latter also nominated for Mark of the Year with a superb grab in the final term.

One positive for the Crows is their SANFL side is currently in good form so several players should come into selection calculations should the coaching panel decide to wield the selection axe.

The next challenge is not an easy one. Back at Adelaide Oval against the in-form Brisbane Lions.

Hattrick brings a Power mojo

Port Adelaide Power produced its best game of the AFL season so far with a hard-fought 17-point win against an injury-ravaged Western Bulldogs. The Power, also without a couple of key players, put the foot down with a five to two-goal third quarter in which Todd Marshall made most of clean forward-50 entries with five marks.

He booted two goals, clunked eight marks, set up a couple of goals and crashed packs in a near best afield performance in Port's convincing 12.14 (86) to 10.6 (69) win at a cold Adelaide Oval on Friday night.

Greater Western Sydney Giants recruit Jeremy Finlayson kicked three goals while 100-gamer Sam Powell-Pepper continued his strong season with two goals. The Doggies booted the first two goals of the game and appeared in its 2021 preliminary-final-mode. However this edition of the Power used coach Ken Hinkley's motto in 'staying in the moment' and wrested the momentum off the Bulldogs.

The hosts led by two points at quarter-time and four by the long break. Aaron Naughton looked the Western Bulldogs' only forward who was capable of taking the game away from Port. The star centre-half-forward kicked four goals.

Port Adelaide kicked six behinds in what was a messy final quarter by both teams in what was otherwise a free-flowing Friday night blockbuster. Young Power ruckman Sam Hayes continued to impress against seasoned Stefan Martin, North Melbourne Kangaroos recruit Trent Dumont was also instrumental in the Power's third-quarter surge. Riley Bonner was giving a lot of drive off half-back before a worrying right ankle injury ended his night after 22 disposals. Travis Boak led the way with 30 touches while Connor Rozee continually broke away from packs with his speed and step and he accumulated 21 possessions. The crafty Robbie Gray snared two first-quarter majors to get Port rolling.

Port Adelaide coach Ken Hinkley said Bonner's injury could be 'just one to two weeks' and also added the forward mix of Marshall, Finlayson and Mitch Georgiades is starting to click as key power forward Charlie Dixon starts his comeback campaign for the Port Magpies.

"I'd rather have that problem than not have that problem," he said of Dixon being added to the mix next week in the AFL. "We'll see how Charlie goes, and let's not get too carried away. He's coming back from a long time off. "We'll make sure he gets through the game as well as he can and then make some decisions."

Port travel to Tasmania to take on struggling North Melbourne Kangaroos on Saturday afternoon at Blundstone Arena.
